Our goal in this unit is to find out about the different kinds of ecosystems and to find out about the biotic and abiotic aspects of these ecosystems.

During the month of December, you will be finding out about various ecosystems and what makes up these ecosystems. You will be reading from the included text, from your science textbook NY Science-grade 6 and from the internet. This project is to be done at home with the help of your family.

Please answer all parts and have the project ready for January
